PASSAGE OF MEASURE

Anti-Saloon League Leaders May Stop Manufacture of Distilled Liquors

Washington, June 30.—Organized prohibition forces conferred with the "dry" senators and representatives today in an effort to determine their attitude on bone dry legislation, modification of which is asked by President Wilson to facilitate the passage of the food control bill by the Senate.

After these conferences, the executive committee of the anti-saloon league is expected to draft a letter to the President announcing its decision. Regardless, however of any action the league may take, it was generally agreed that the President's intervention has had the effect of preventing any interference with the manufacture of beer and light wines, and that the most the prohibitionists can hope for at this session is legislation dealing only with distilled beverages.

Wilson's Attitude
The President's attitude on the subject was made in a communication to the Rev. Dr. James Cannon, chairman of the anti-saloon league committee, after conferences with congressional leaders.

"It has become evident," the President wrote, "that heated and protracted debate will delay passage of the bill if the provisions affecting the manufacture of beer and wine are retained and insisted upon. In these circumstances, I have not hesitated to say to members of the Senate who have been kind enough to consult with me that I would undoubtedly be in a position to support in this critical hour the friends of these provisions, should they consent to their elimination from the present measure."

The President's attitude, it is believed, will bring about passage of the food bill by the Senate early in the coming week. The President's attitude, principally on the subject of amendments.

STATE BOARD OF

Special Session of Supreme Court to Follow for Swearing in of Candidates

Grand Forks, N. D., June 30.—The state board of bar examiners—Emerson H. Smith, Fargo, president, Assistant Attorney General Harry A. Bronson, Bismarck, and Jeff M. Mayers, Grand Forks, will meet here July 10 to examine applicants for admission to the state bar.

Chief Justice Andrew A. Bruce last evening called a special session of the supreme court for Grand Forks on July 16, when candidates who pass the examination will be sworn in.

Several weeks ago the court adopted a rule that law students of the university who were in their senior year and who were called into military service would be granted full credits for time spent in that service and would be admitted upon their return to civil life without a regular examination, providing they were not in position to take this examination at the time ordinarily specified.

FIGHTING CRAFT IS LAUNCHED

Camden, N. J., June 30.—Another monster fighting machine for the navy took to the water here today from the yards of the New York Shipbuilding company when the superdreadnaught Idaho was successfully launched. Because of war conditions the general public was not admitted to the ceremony. The Idaho will carry a dozen 14-inch 50 caliber rifles, mounted in turrets in four turrets. Geared turbine engines will furnish the 32,000 horsepower necessary to hurl her 600 foot length and 33,000 tons of bulk through the water at the rate of more than 21 knots an hour.

Dunn Guilty;

State Prison

Murderer Betrays No Emotion as Judge Haft Propounces
Sentence Upon Him

THIRD MAN TO GET SENTENCED FOR CRIME

St. Paul, Minn., June 30.—Frank J. Dunn, convicted of hiring gunmen to kill his wife, Alice McQuillen Dunn, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary at hard labor yesterday by Judge Hugo Haft in the district court. The jury which found Dunn guilty announced its verdict after deliberating less than two hours.

Dunn betrayed no emotion when the verdict was announced. He walked firmly to the railing to be sentenced, and replied clearly and loudly to the questions put to him by the court.

Reiterates Innocence.
"I am not guilty," he said. "I do not know anything about Moore or Redenbaugh, or any of those fellows. I didn't even read about them in the papers."

Dunn's two brothers and a brother-in-law were in court when the verdict was read. None of the McQuillen family was present.

When Dunn is taken to Stillwater, probably tomorrow, the doors of the prison will have closed behind four of the five men charged by the state with plotting the murder of Alice M. Dunn, who was slain on the morning of April 26, as she lay sleeping beside her younger sister at the home of her father in St. Paul.

Slayer Serving Sentence.
Joseph Redenbaugh, confessed slayer of the woman, is serving a life sentence for the murder of Patrolman George Connerly in Minneapolis two days after the Dunn killing. Frank McCool, who has confessed that he was at the McQuillen home with Redenbaugh and received a share of the "blood money," paid by Dunn, also is serving a sentence for the murder of the Minneapolis patrolman. Johnny Doyle, said to have been the third man in the party at the McQuillen home, has not yet been apprehended by the police. Mike Moore, convicted as the go-between in the Dunn plot, is serving a life sentence in Stillwater.

The indictment against Dunn charged him with hiring the Redenbaugh gang through Moore to slay Mrs. Dunn. The three men—Redenbaugh, McCool and Doyle—received $4,000 for the crime, according to the state's charge.

FRANCE GAINS

Canadians Capture Stretch of Territory Greater Than Any
Since Vimy Ridge

HAND TO HAND CONTEST FEATURES OFFENSIVE

Canadian Headquarters in France, June 30.—Success, unexpectedly great and complete at a cost in casualties far less than in some recent unimportant engagements, has attended the drive of the Canadians along the valley of the Souchez towards Lens, during the last week. The gain of ground is greater than in any action since the capture of Vimy ridge, and the land restored to France includes some of her most productive coal mines.

Lying out on the water soaked ground, and along the Souchez river, this afternoon, still under fire, are the troops who attacked the enemy at 2:30 o'clock Thursday morning, in the outskirts of Allon. The Germans put up a resistance so strong that some of the advance parties retired.

Elements Unfavorable
At 7 o'clock a. m., they attacked again and after hard hand to hand fighting, the result of which was seen in the number of German dead on the field, they pushed forward to the western part of the village. The same men took part in a third attack within twenty-four hours. This was launched at seven o'clock last night and after they once again reached the goal set for them, they surrendered to sleep, the sleep of utter exhaustion in a downpour of torrential rain.

The situation on Friday afternoon is regarded as most satisfactory. The enemy by damming the Souchez river, by blowing up bridges crossing the canal, and obstructing the connecting channels through the marshes in the region southwest of Lens, has placed a belt of inundated land between himself and the Canadian troops on a front of more than a mile. The inundations are a cover to the weakness the enemy would not have betrayed over a few months ago, because they reveal his intention to wage a purely defensive warfare along this part of the line.

There are daily increasing signs that the German manpower is no longer what it was. The number of enemy troops in the field appears little less than before the opening of the spring operation, but the spirit of the war is no longer that of an assured victory.

Interstate Commerce Commission

Denies Fifteen Per Cent Increase in Tariffs

ALL RATES SUSPENDED UNTIL NEXT SEPTEMBER

Carriers Based Appeal Upon Increase in Wages and Cost of Materials

Washington, June 30.—The interstate commerce commission today denied the plea of railroads of the United States for a horizontal increase of 15 per cent in freight rates.

In its decision the commission indicated a willingness to increase class rates in the eastern district approximately 14 per cent. Since about one-fourth of the freight handled is moved under class rates, the decision virtually allows the eastern lines about four per cent increase in gross freight revenue. Increases sought in rates on coal, coke and iron ore will be granted. The commission found, as a result of extended hearings, that the carriers generally show a substantial and increasing prosperity and that they have ample resources with which to conduct transportation.

No Rethinking Probable.
Little sympathy was given the arguments of the roads that they were victims of war prices, the commission holding that the carriers have profited by the mobilization of troops.

The commission suspended the proposed tariffs until Oct. 28, but it indicated that no rethinking of the case will be of value at this time, and suggested cancellation of the tariffs.

The rate advance cases were born of the threatened nation-wide railroad workers' strike in the summer of 1916. The first mention of an advance in rates was made in connection with the passage of the Adamson law, which averted the impending strike.

January 1, 1917, found the railroads in a position unparalleled in their history. They were hauling freight and passengers at the top of their driving power, working their plants at speed and capacity exceeding what experts previously had believed the maximum. So much freight had been poured in that they could not handle it all; rails, sidings, terminals, yards were congested with a burden of loaded cars. Tremendous congestion ensued, especially at eastern seaports where ocean-carrying vessels were not sufficiently plentiful, and an acute car shortage resulted.

Money was pouring in to the railroads too, faster than ever before. Receipts for the 12 months nearly reached the $4,000,000,000 mark; net revenues approximated $1,000,000,000. It seemed as if the railroads were at the dawn of a new day's prosperity. Then another factor, more potent than the Adamson law and more unexpected than the threatened strike, came into the situation. It was the rising cost of necessities.

Coal Prices Rose.
Coal prices rose—in some cases more than 100 per cent. Steel rails, steel cars, structural steel, everything of iron and steel that entered into the operation of railroads went up in price. Oil, used by some western roads as fuel, went up, supplies and equipment of all sorts mounted to new high price levels. Unskilled labor threatened to go into other markets where pay was better and the wages claimed they had to advance roads in order to keep men. Operating costs continued to go up. The vision of a day of prosperity faded.

In its place there soon came a time when the roads, though taking in more money than ever before, said they were not receiving as large a net return as they had received 12 months before. The increase in operating costs, they contended, grew out of all proportion to the increased business. Instead of making money, the roads claimed they were on the verge of losing millions at a day when they were operating at maximum capacity. The new money paid out under the Adamson law were out a small percentage, the railroads claimed, of the totals paid out in higher operating costs. A general movement looking toward relief was begun.

Start Machinery.
Within 48 hours after the supreme court upheld the Adamson law the machinery for a rate increase was put in motion. Relief, the railroads claimed, was imperatively necessary, and as time was of the essence of the situation they sought to obtain it with all possible speed. Dividing into three groups, the railroads sought the interstate commerce commission's aid in meeting their difficulties.

The percentage of the advance had not been determined upon at the first conference. Finally all three groups decided that a 15 per cent advance was needed to enable them to meet new conditions. This, it was variously estimated, would yield from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 annual revenue.

Dundee, Scotland, June 30.—"We have driven the great army of Germany underground," said Premier Lloyd George in a speech here today. "When a great army is driven to such tactics it is the beginning of the end. It means we are possessing a sense of inferiority into every great pore of the German military mind. As such as the Prussians have an idea of superiority in their mind, Europe will not be a decent place for people to live in peace. It will be easier after this. The Prussian has many virtues, but a sense of humility has never been one of them."

A Port in France, June 28. (Delayed by Censor.—The first contingent of American troops landing today were greeted joyfully by the population of this whole district. The transport, whose expected arrival had not been previously announced publicly, came steaming into the harbor in a long line at an early hour. The news that the Americans were arriving spread with amazing rapidity, and by the time the troops' ships drew alongside the quays where the men were to disembark, thousands of people were on hand.

A wild welcome was shrieked by whistles of craft in the harbor and by shouts from the crowd which was thickly dotted with the var-colored uniforms of French soldiers and sailors. Meanwhile the bands on the warships were playing. Delegations of American army officers from Paris and American naval men from elsewhere were present with French military men of high rank to receive the new fighting forces of the allies.

Sight Land Monday.
Land was first sighted from the transports on Monday night after an exciting trip through the submarine zone. Frequent warnings of submarines operating in the expedition's course were received during the last few days of the voyage, and the passage through the war zone was made at a high speed.

The men were prepared for every emergency during this period. Weather conditions during the entire voyage were ideal and the men arrived in excellent health.

The various units of the American expeditionary forces having reached France safely, the censor has released dispatches filed during the week depicting the arrival of the different contingents. No previous word has been received, with the exception of one dispatch on Wednesday announcing that the second contingent had disembarked and gone into camp.

LEAGUE WINS DECISION IN BURTNESS CASE

Although Justice Robinson's Saturday evening letter, appearing on another page, forecasted the decision of the court, it was not until late this afternoon that Chief Justice Bruce filed an order of the court denying the writ to mandamus the secretary of state to place Burtness' name in the republican column of the ballot to be used July 10 in the special election to elect a successor to the late Congressman H. T. Hedgeson.

There is no formal opinion filed as yet. This will follow next week. County auditors will proceed to print the ballot as originally drawn by Mr. Hall. This means that the names will go on with the designations as set forth in the nominating petitions. In other words there will be no special party columns on the ballot.

This ruling, of course, is another point in favor of the league candidate, J. M. Baer.

Justice Bruce stated that the Saturday evening letter is not necessarily the view of the court which will be known only when the formal opinion is filed.

The petition to order Hall to take off the names of Vix and Cuthbert is also denied.

IN SERVING LEGAL PAPERS

Wahpeton, N. D., June 30.—"For God's sake don't shoot again; you have shot my leg off now!"

This was the plea of Evan M. Jones when he was shot by Fred Meske, April 7, this year, at Hankinson, according to the statement of Constable W. A. Heley, on cross examination in the trial of Meske here today.

Jones was killed when he visited the Meske home in company with Constable Heley to make an attachment of some property. The fact of the killing is not disputed. It is maintained by the state that Jones was assisting Heley in the lawful performance of his duty.

The defense contends that the constable was not properly accredited in the attachment case and that his authority to act was insufficient. They further contend that the action of the officers was in violation of the statute and that the defendant was justified in protecting his wife and family and himself.

Constable Heley, the state's leading witness, was under cross examination the greater part of the day. He stated that Jones was standing near a wagon box when Meske fired at him from the step of his door. It was then that Jones used his plea not to be shot again. Heley alleges that Meske covered him with his gun, thus preventing rendering immediate aid to the injured man.

NEW TEUTON OFFENSIVE
STARTS IN AISNE REGION

(By Associated Press.)
One of the most interesting sections of the front in Europe is the Verdun region, where a series of violent German attacks are taking place. Whether these assaults are anything more than demonstrations on a large scale is difficult to make out. Nevertheless, it is clear that the German crown prince, followed a year ago, in his prolonged attempt to take the French stronghold, is again delivering blows of force and magnitude on its defense, and has made some impression on the French line.

The German attacks began the day before yesterday. The first drives were made on Hill No. 304, north-west of Verdun. Yesterday a blow of apparently great force was delivered in the region of Dead Man's hill. In neither cases, reports of the defenders show, were anything more than first line trenches penetrated, and the French last night got back most of the trenches lost the day before at Hill No. 304.

The offensive tendency of the Germans under the crown prince is also in evidence on the Aisne front, where they have attacked violently in the vicinity of Cerny and Courbeny. They were driven back with terrific losses yesterday in the latter region, but succeeded last night by blowing the French positions to pieces and employing liquid fire in taking a salient in the French position northeast of Cerny.

On the British front in northern France the Germans are still on the back track. The official resume of the fighting yesterday in the Lens region shows the British have bitten heavily into German-held territory, advancing more than a mile on a four-mile front. This operation has carried the British line well into the south of the coal city.

There's a little college out in California, St. Mary's they call it, where they grow baseball players like weeds and pretty nearly every season finds one or two of them up in the majors.

Moran has been nursing the youngster along since 1915 and believes he is about ready.

Moran and the other Phillies believe Oeschger should prove to be another Alexander. They declare he has more speed than the great Alex, a better fast ball and a faster breaking curve.

He has lacked confidence and control, but is said to be developing these things rapidly.

Late last night from his farm at Hoople, whither the governor had been called by an emergency, Lynn J. But ten days remain in which to recruit the Second regiment to war footing of 2,002 men and 56 officers. And military experts enthusiastic over the prospect, say it can be done.

Tharalson or White.
For commander of the new regiment the names of Frank White of Valley City, former governor of North Dakota, an ex-major in the North Dakota national guard, and who also served with the North Dakota volunteers in the Philippines, was suggested. The name of Adjutant General T. H. Tharalson also has been mentioned for second, if not first in command. Tharalson resigned the lieutenant-colonelcy of the First regiment to accept the post of adjutant general two years ago. He is out-ranked in age though not in point of service by the former governor.

Farmers, Says Nonpartisan Representative, Have Agreed on Minimum Wage

SCALE IS FIXED AT FOUR DOLLARS A DAY

St. Paul, Minn., June 30.—According to a statement issued today by John Gilbert, local representative of the Nonpartisan league, farmer members of that organization, and members of the I. W. W.'s have reached a tentative agreement by which the latter will obtain employment in North Dakota harvest fields and those of other states this summer.

The agreement is to be ratified at a meeting to be held in Minot, N. D., July 11, Mr. Gilbert said.

The farmers on their part have guaranteed the I. W. W.'s a minimum wage of $4.00 daily, with a sliding scale to be based on the price of wheat. In return they will be guaranteed a sufficient supply of labor and freedom from strikes. In addition, both parties have agreed that the railroad will be paid the fare of the harvest hands, relieving the road of trouble incident to attempts at stealing rides.

There is no doubt that the farmers will ratify the agreement, Mr. Gilbert said.

"It is a fine thing for our members," he added, "for it assures them labor at a reasonable wage when labor is scarce, and freedom from all the strike troubles they have had during the past few years. The statement in a telegram from Fargo that the I. W. W.'s think they are entitled to wages of $11.45 a day is erroneous. We have found them reasonable in their demands. Naturally railroad officials are pleased with their part in the arrangement."

BRAZIL'S NAVY
CO-OPERATES WITH AMERICAN FLEET

Washington, June 30.—Brazil's navy has begun co-operating with the American fleet in South American waters in hunting down German sea raiders and watching for German submarines.

Sending of a special diplomatic mission to Brazil to arrange for a co-ordination of forces and the co-operation of the two governments is under consideration by the United States.

Without formal declaration of war, Brazil thus practically has joined the United States against Germany. Coincident with the inauguration of Brazil's naval operation, a plan for protecting her merchant ships in their voyages to allied ports with frozen meats and other foodstuffs has been put into effect. Whether Brazil will supplement this action by a formal declaration of war is not known, and by some officials such actions are regarded as doubtful because the government there is inclined to regard its action rather defensive than aggressive. For the present, it is believed, Brazil's part will be adequately done if she contributes to the safety of the southern seas and to the movement to Europe of foodstuffs.

TIME NOT RIPE TO TAKE PUBLIC INTO CONFIDENCE

Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor Says Harvest Hand
Contract Is Incomplete

BELIEVES AGREEMENT WILL PREVENT STRIFE

"The agreement entered into between the committee of which I was a member representing North Dakota, and representatives of the Agricultural Workers Union, at Kansas City, is not yet fully complete and nothing could be accomplished by making it public now," said Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor John N. Hagan today when asked for a definite statement as to what the contract is which President A. C. Townley of the Nonpartisan league will ask members of his organization to ratify in meetings to be held the second week in July at Minot, Valley City and Bismarck.

Terms Not Public
"I can state," said Mr. Hagan, "that the terms reported by the Industrial Worker, organ of the Industrial Workers of the World, in its report of the Kansas City meeting of the Agricultural Workers' union are not the terms of the agreement which we have under consideration. Our sole object is to supply an abundance of skilled farm labor for the harvest when and where it is needed. By negotiating with the Agricultural Workers' union, we hope to avoid trouble which has been common in other years where there was no general agreement between the farmer and the harvest hand. We hope to prevent the concentration of workers in one place which has occurred in other years. Our plan is to ship the workers direct from the point where they are being delivered to the point where they are to be employed. Only by handling the problem as we propose to do can we get the reduced transportation charges which are advisable."

Up to the Farmer
"The farmer may not approve the agreement when presented to him. If he does not, we will strive to go on furnishing labor as we have done up to the present time. To date we have met every demand made on us, but these demands have been light as compared with what they will be later on. This department does not favor employing high school boys as farm laborers. They have not the experience in the first place; in the second place, they cannot be expected to stand the hard work."

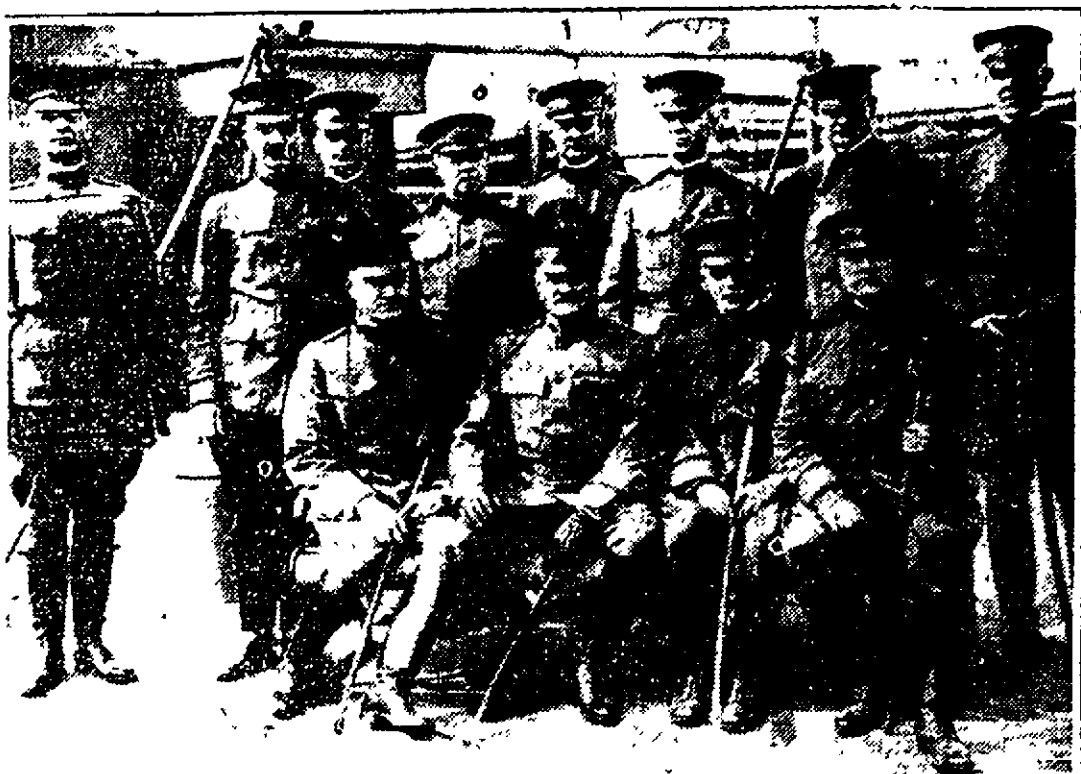

Confident of Protection
"I am confident that the farmer if he accepts the agreement with the agricultural workers' union upon which we are working will have no labor troubles. The union men will be as much bound by their bargain as well the farmer by him. I am satisfied with what we saw of the union headquarters at Kansas City that they can make good their promises."

WAR TAXES BOOSTED TO YIELD $1,655,000,000

POULTRY PRODUCTS COULD BE DOUBLED

Lowly Hen Can Do Much to Relieve Food Shortage, Say Uncle Sam's Experts.

SYSTEMATIC PLANS NEEDED

Six Hundred Million Dollars' Worth of Eatables Could Be Added to Nation's Supply in Year, It Is Declared.

The statement that has been made by those in a position to know that the poultry products of the United States could be doubled within a year means that if everybody in a position to help did their part six hundred million dollars' worth of food would be added to our supply this year, say Uncle Sam's experts in the department of agriculture.

This includes both meat for the table and eggs. Very few farmers practice a systematic plan of disposing of their fowls after they have ceased to be productive, these experts say, although it is well known that fowls of the heavier breeds, such as the Plymouth Rocks, cease to produce a profitable number of eggs at the end of their second laying year, and that this holds true of the lighter breeds, such as the Leghorns, at the end of their third laying year. Consequently, if efforts were made to dispose of all females when their best laying days were over a large quantity of poultry meat would be placed on the market. All poorly developed chickens should likewise be culled out and used as meat. This way of disposing of unprofitable fowls would allow the farmer to feed his grain to younger and more productive fowls.

Fattening Chickens for Market.
Caponizing the cockerels that are not intended for breeding purposes will not only increase their size but will place a more desirable poultry meat on the market. Another practice that should be adopted more widely, it is declared, is that of fattening all chickens that are to be marketed before they leave the farm. This can be done easily by confining the birds for a week or ten days and feeding them a good fattening ration. They will come to market in better condition and the farmer will receive a profit for their added weight.

The greater production of turkeys, ducks, geese and guineas, all of which can be profitably raised and a ready market found in most sections, would increase the supply of poultry meat considerably. The production of ducks especially should be emphasized at this time it is urged, because of the rapidity with which they grow. Ducks of most of the meat breeds, properly fed and managed, frequently weigh from five to six pounds at ten weeks of age. It is estimated by poultrymen making a specialty of growing ducks that the feed cost per pound of producing duck meat ranges from eight to twelve cents.

Increasing Supply of Eggs.
The number of marketable eggs can be increased by following a few practical suggestions. Among the most important of these are the production of the infertile egg after the breeding season is over, and the proper handling of eggs by the farmer before sending them to market. The infertile egg is obtained when all male birds are removed from the flock. This does not decrease the number of eggs produced, but it does increase greatly their keeping qualities. The production of the infertile egg and the proper handling and marketing of eggs by the producer would increase tremendously the number of marketable eggs each year by diminishing the quantity that are rendered unfit for food.

Mandan Boy Drives Giant King of the Air That Is to Help Win World's War

Mandan, N. D., June 29.—Clifford B. Prodder, a Mandan boy who left the Voss garage here five years ago to become a student at the Curtiss school in Dayton, Ohio, and who was almost immediately advanced to a post as instructor for the Curtiss Bros. is the man upon whom the British admiralty is depending to test out its huge new aeroplanes, which carry a load of several tons and travel faster than any of the machines regularly employed in the first year of the war.

Raised in Mandan
Prodder, born and reared in Mandan, was known here as an expert machinist and a genius with engines. He worked at the Voss garage for a number of years with George Finnegan, who left Mandan about the same time as Prodder did, the former to become chauffeur for former Governor Hanna, in which he served four years.

Mr. Finnegan is now driving for the first regiment and is quartered at Fort Lincoln. He knew that his old friend was in the British aviation service, but had no direct advice from him recently until this week, when E. Percy Noel, British correspondent of the Chicago Daily News and the St. Paul Pioneer Press, told of his first ride with Prodder.

Prodder the Pilot
"In the morning," writes Noel, "I received a telephone message that the big machine will leave the works at 11 o'clock, and at that hour it was on the grass outside the door. When I arrived, Clifford E. Prodder, an American pilot, was putting on a tight-fitting cloth helmet which was the only evidence of his profession, for he wore a clean blue serge suit and a stiff white collar, with no topcoat in spite of the drizzling rain. In front of us was the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. B, 300 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

thing of the air, so heavy, solid and massive that seemed incredible that it should even be able to leave the ground."

The Graceful Ascent
Noel then graphically describes the graceful ascent of the giant machine under the skillful direction of the Mandan boy. After a trial flight in the machine, and soared with his North Dakota pilot through first one, then another and finally a third strata of clouds. The correspondent described the various parts of the plane as one would a yacht. Tired of standing on the upper decks, he goes "below", where he is still above the head of pilot Prodder and in position to observe his expert operation of power and steering control, which even in a plane of such mammoth proportions must be delicately manipulated.

Up in the Air
At an altitude of 7,500 feet the observer who occupies a place "forward" with the war correspondent makes an official notation. Then the goal of 10,000 feet is maintained, and the drop almost two miles back to earth is begun. Prodder takes the descent with his typical daring, using first one set of motors and then the other. Arrived over the aerodrome, Prodder points the prow of his ship almost straight down, and they drop like a plummet, tons of matter hurtling through the air under perfect control. As lightly as a bird, the giant gerfalcon skims over the top of a railway, train only 30 feet below, and gently as a nesting dove settles to ground within a few feet of the starting point.

"That," remarks Noel to Prodder, "is the longest range, highest calibre artillery piece in existence. I am proud to have made a close acquaintance with it, for surely it is going to do much to help win the war."

REGENTS WILL OPPOSE EFFORT TO OUST THEM

Power and Scow Contend They Have Right to Hold Until Law Is Obedied

It was definitely announced here today that Emil Scow of Bowman and J. A. Power of Leonard, who terms as members of the state board of Regents expires July 1, or when their successors have been duly appointed, do not intend to retire July 1, on the ground that no legal successors have been named.

This is a not unexpected development in the fight on the board of regents commenced by the administration last winter when an effort was made to oust the entire board on the ground that the members had been illegally appointed two years before by Governor Hanna. The senate, when Governor Frazier presented the names of five appointees for confirmation, refused to accept his view of the case, and declined to nominate any appointees. Later efforts to oust the board resulted in defeat for the administration in supreme court.

The board at its hearing asked the supreme court to also pass on the question of the governor's right under the law to make an interim appointment of board members whose confirmation from the senate is required by statute. The court at that time held the question not pertinent to the case on trial. Today's stand, however, is expected to bring this question before the court for decision.

Itching Rash All Over Face

Was a sight. So bad could not shave. Skin very red and sore. Some nights did not sleep on account of itching. Used a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Ointment and was completely healed.

Cuticura Soap to cleanse, purify and beautify. Cuticura Ointment to soothe, and the two together have been most successful in the severest forms of skin and scalp troubles; but greater still is what they have done in preserving clear skin, clean scalp, and good hair as well as in preventing little skin troubles becoming serious. This has been brought about by using the other soap for toilet purposes than Cuticura. It is ideal for the complexion because so delicate, creamy and fragrant.

GOVERNMENT DISCOVERS HOW GERMAN SUBMARINES

LAY MINES IN TRACK OF MERCHANT SHIPS

Washington, D. C., June 30.—Federal investigators have come upon the secret of Germany's submarine mine-layers.

The submarines are equipped with automatic mine-holders, which contain two mines, a new mine being inserted as soon as one is laid. The lower mine is released by a spring, when the upper mine drops down to take its place. The mine has a heavy anchor attachment fitted with a spring. As soon as the anchor-standard touches the sea bottom, the spring is snapped, and the mine then begins to rise, unspinning as it rises a thin cable, attached to the anchor.

Each mine is fitted with a gauge, controlled by water pressure, which holds it at a determined distance under the surface, no matter whether the tide is high or low. This makes the mine invisible, and a vessel of ordinary draft can pass part way over it before the bottom touches the mine and explodes it.

Great Rosebery Stable Of 68 Thoroughbreds May Be Auctioned in America

It is rumored in New York that the wonderful racing stable of Lord Rosebery, former premier of England, is to be shipped to America, probably to be sold at auction.

The stable consists of 68 horses including some of the greatest thoroughbred strains known to the British turf.

In England Lord Rosebery's name has long been synonymous with what is the best in the racing game and his colors, on several occasions preceded those of Edward VII, himself, a great breeder of thoroughbreds, to the wire.

Lord Rosebery has won three Derbys with his horses, Ladas winning in 1894 and St. Visco the following year. In 1905 Cicera carried Lord Rosebery's colors to the top in England's greatest classic.

One of the greatest of Rosebery horses in the past was Cyllene, which won $128,115 in 11 starts and was afterward sold to an Argentine syndicate for $125,000.

Neil Gow, winner several years ago of the 2000 guinea stakes, was another famous figure in the Rosebery stables.

Offspring of several of these horses, it is said, will be in the shipment which is to come to America.

Although Lord Rosebery has not officially announced that his stable is for sale, American horsemen generally believe this is his plan, as all of the big American stakes for this year have been closed and none of the horses have yet been nominated for 1918 stakes.

registered pharmacists to be disposed of by them as provided by law."

The federal provision, of course, applies only to the transmission interstate of liquors designed for dry territory. It would have been inoperative so far as North Dakota is concerned, but for an act of the last legislature eliminating the privilege formerly granted of importing liquors for personal use.

How the exemptions granted registered pharmacists will work out remains to be seen. In voting against the so-called bone dry law, Senator Jacobson of Mott in the assembly last winter said: "In this bill we close the front door of the saloon only to open a side door." The South Dakota Druggists' association has urged members to take out no permits for the sale of intoxicants under that state's bone dry law, which is similar to North Dakota's.

Cromwell's Last Words.
Of the great Oliver, who brought Charles I to the scaffold, Thomas Carlyle has written a notable book, and in the fine description of the death scene Cromwell's last words are recorded. ## Accurate Inspection System Impresses Visitor to Willys-Overland Factory

Fully assembled crank cases are "run in" for hours to test crank and cam shafts as though in actual operation; crank shaft bearings are thoroughly inspected before the dynamometer tests, which each Willys-Overland motor undergoes.

Inspection System Story.
A visitor of the immense Toledo factory of The Willys-Overland Company had just finished his tour. He was a mechanical expert with more than a smattering of motor knowledge—one who had visited scores of automobile factories in this country and in Europe.

He had been impressed with the giant cranes and presses, the mountain piles of material waiting their turn to be forged or turned into required shapes; the vast conveyor systems which lightened the toll of the workman at the same time they multiplied the output. He had the highest praise for the efficiency of each labor and time-saving device which the exigencies of enormous production have created.

"But what was it that impressed you—what operation or what machine will you remember longest after you leave here?" he was asked.

"Your inspection," came the quick reply.

Outdoor Similar Experiences.
I have seen the manufacturing methods of some of the highest grade cars of two continents, but the painstaking care and the accuracy of the manufacture of all your models is something that outdoes any previous similar experiences. Building your motor cars seems just one inspection after another. Tell me, do you ever make a mistake?"

The visitor picked out the feature of the Willys-Overland factories on which particular stress has been laid and on which additional responsibility is being continually placed in an endeavor to turn out a product as nearly perfect as human endeavor and mechanical accuracy can make it.

Inspections on All Sides.
A most rigid system of inspection has been established throughout all departments, both in the manufacture of the many units that go to make up a completed car, as well as in their assembly.

The raw material is carefully checked by heroic physical, painstaking chemical and minute microscopic tests to see that it tallies with the specifications.

After the foregoing comes the machining, grinding and surfacing operations. Although the machines which do the work are minutely accurate, the accuracy is constantly checked by the operator with delicate micrometer.

More Careful Tests.
But even this is not sufficient. All the parts—particularly those that play a more delicate role in the operation of the motor car—are again carefully inspected by men who do nothing but that—for hardness, for proper size and surface, for quality of material—in short, for every detail that can impair the efficiency of the product.

After the manufacturing operations have been carefully inspected, the parts are taken to the assembly rooms. Here again each step—whether in motor assembly or in body or chassis assembly—is carefully watched.

The motor parts are fitted by expert workmen and inspected by most rigorous tests. Each addition to the chassis is inspected to make sure that it is set in or fastened on correctly. At the conclusion of the assemblies the finished product is tried out under its own power by expert testers.

Eighty-eight Men Used Here.

Sixty-eight men look after more than a hundred different inspection duties on the Overland Light Four model alone. All told there is an inspection force of more than 250 men in the Willys-Overland factories in Toledo, on whom rests the responsibility of seeing that all Willys-Overland cars are turned out in conformity with engineering specifications.

More Applications For Red Cross
Charters Than Can Be Handled

Dr. Beard, state organizer for the state of Red Cross chapters states that there are ten times as many applications received for charters as can be filled. Dr. Beard has been spending as high as three days a week in organization work in various parts of the state and plans to spend his entire vacation period in similar work.

There are at the present time 33 active chapters in the state and 25 auxiliaries, the latter being organized for work as completely as the chapters, but not assuming the financial responsibilities for material used. Dr. Beard says that by fall there should be at least 100 chapters in flourishing condition as a determined effort will be made to establish chapters where ever requested.

Dr. Beard says the state is humming with Red Cross activity. Women are busily at work on articles for the national society. Much of the work already completed is being sent to the headquarters in New York.

MRS. SHAW APOLOGIZES FOR SUFFRAGE PICKETS

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, honorary president of the National American Women's Suffrage association, and also chairman of the women's committee of the council of national defense, which is now in session in Washington, gives out a statement regarding the picketing of some suffragists at the white house.

"I cannot understand how any suffragist can carry on a line of agitation which is so obviously injurious to the suffrage cause. I consider the picketing of the white house during the last winter and particularly at the present time the greatest obstacle now existing to the passage of the federal woman's suffrage amendment in congress."

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Women's Suffrage association, and a member of the women's committee of the council of national defense, as given out the following statement:

"Millions of women of the United States feel humiliation over the fact that our allies, Russia, Great Britain and Canada have either liberated their women or promised to liberate them from the political disabilities under which women have rested the world around. We feel that our men in congress should not wait another minute to submit to the legislature the federal amendment for woman suffrage. 'Nevertheless we are not in the least in sympathy with the method that has been used by the white house pickets to announce our humiliation to our visitors from over the sea. We consider it unwise, unpatriotic and unprofitable to the cause of suffrage.'"

GAME NETS $250.00

Jamestown, N. D., June 30.—Staging an eleventh hour rally in the last of the ninth the Elks nine snatched a victory from the Y. M. C. A. aggregation here last night by a score of 7 to 6 in a Red Cross benefit game.

A monster crowd attended the exhibition. The officials reported today that at least $250 was realized and will be turned over to the Red Cross society at once.

MRS. ANDREW M. BURKE
DIES IN NEW MEXICO

Word has been received in the capital city announcing the death of Mrs. Andrew H. Burke, wife of former governor Burke, Friday in Roswell, New Mexico.

Gov. Burke was the second governor of the state of North Dakota serving from 1891-92. Mrs. Burke was about 60 years old and had many friends in the capital city during her residence here. The Burkes have made their home in New Mexico for the last few years. Mr. Burke being connected with the Federal Land office as special agent.

No definite information as to cause of death has been received here. Besides the husband, twin daughters survive.

By BETTY BROWN.
New York, June 30.—Many of the season's most popular styles are striking rather than refined.

But all the most pronounced extremes of style may be combined in a conservative and elegant garment, as evidenced by a Franklin Simon costume.

The material is tan silk Bengaline, and the embroidery is most artistically executed in several shades of the same color.

The line of the hat indicates the use of broad brims for mid-summer.

New York, June 29.—The season's most exquisite variation of the lingerie dress is a sports blouse of Georgette crepe and flit lace.

The new garment is cut on the lines of a silk sweater-coat, but it is adapted by the flimsiness of the material for wearing on the hottest mid-summer day.

A feature of this most desirable garment is the delicate hemstitching that outlines all the edges.

Blouses in Fifth avenue shops are bewilderingly dainty and fairly reveal in variety.

But fashion always has a favorite, and her favorite in this respect is for flit lace.

It fairly abounds on the smartest blouses, and is seen on those of fine linen and of Georgette crepe alike.

Even the severely tailored suits of the season are relieved by collars of this lace, either in straight, narrow shapes, or in sailor effects, in which case eyelet and embroidered linen and crepe is often introduced in combination with the flit.

Child Not Unlike Adult.
The child in its disposition is not unlike an adult. Normally, both are happy and contented as long as they are feeling well, and the healthier they are the more responsive is their disposition. But if the head is dull and the brain is sluggish and the muscles have a tired feeling from a poor digestion, then both the adult and the child become irritable and quick tempered, doing only those things which one wishes to do, unresponsive and discontented.

PAGE MR. JONES.
Mr. Sporting Editor:
It is evident, after reading your article regarding the baseball game Thursday night, that the true facts were not given. It is also evident, from the alleged facts, as given out by B. E. Jones, that he has affiliated himself with the Nonpartisan league.

The real facts are that the Jones lineup was largely composed of players from the regular Bismarck nine, while their opponents, with two exceptions, were young boys in knickerbockers. The actual score was a tie, 14 to 14. Has Jones ever been to Spain? If not, when did he become a Spanish athlete?

Yours truly,
A FAN.

An Oversight.
Harold was out walking with his mother when they passed a legless man. "Goodness, mamma, did God let that man out of heaven without his legs?" he asked.

WHOLE FAMILY IN BASEBALL.
Outfielder Thrasher of Athletics Has Four Brothers Interested in National Game.

Frank Thrasher, the outfielder of the Athletics, formerly with Atlanta of the Southern league, is not the only baseball representative of the family. His brother, Ralph, who has retired to farm life, was pitcher for a team at Watkinsonville, Ga. His brothers, Ike and Loring, are candidates for the infield and outfield of the Atlanta team, and another brother, Clarence, aged seventeen, is a member of the Georgia High School team of Watkinsonville.

CUBS AND GIANTS UNDERGO MANY CHANGES

OLD-TIME CHICAGO AND NEW YORK PLAYERS
When Fred Thielen went to the Cubs he found not a single player who was with the team in 1908, when the Cubs won the pennant from the Giants through Merkle's oversight in not touching second. All of the old Cubs are gone, though four still remain in the National league. Kersers and Reubach now form the coaching staff of the Braves. Schulte plays the outfield for Pittsburgh while Zimmerman, the kid infielder of 1908, now is McGraw's third baseman.

OF THE 1908 Giants, only Herzog is left in New York and he has been a Gotham inhabitant only off and on—McGraw having traded him away twice and traded him back twice. Charley put in terms in Boston and Cincinnati. Like Zimmerman, Doyle and Merkle, Herzog was a rookie infielder in 1908. He came into the league that season. Marquard, now with Brooklyn, went to the Giants in the fall of 1908, while Leon Ames, though a veteran of the Giant pitching staff in 1908, still is pitching good ball in St. Louis. Matty, of course, still is in the league as manager of Cincinnati, but Big Six is no longer in active service.

Brooklynite, is doing quite a little of the stick work.
The birds who are trying to fill Honus Wagner's shoes are having about as much success as a submarine in the Wabash river.
Jack Warhop is pitching fine ball for Jack Dunn's Orioles. The little underhand finger pitched two shutout games within the last ten days.
Benny Kauff, who was a coal miner before he turned his talents to the national pastime, is perhaps one of the hardest of ball players.

Pitcher George Mogridge of the New Yorks has more kinds of delivery than any living pitcher. He can throw overhand, side arm and underhand.
John McGraw candidly admits that the Brooklyners are the Giants' most dangerous rivals. McGraw says that Robbie's pitching must be overcome.

Charley Rigler, National league umpire, was ready for a try at the trenches in France, but a twisted finger, bugged up in a ball game years ago, caused his rejection.
Chick Gandil, formerly of Cleveland, is getting quite popular with the Chicago fans. Everybody agrees that President Comiskey of the White Sox made a wise move when he acquired Chick.

The Cardinals are getting the money in St. Louis. Miller Huggins seems to have a good ball club after all.
Cincinnati politicians are grooming Garret Herrmann, chairman of the national commission, for mayor of Redland.
Manager McGraw is trying to convert George Kelly, the nephew of Bill Lange, from an outfielder into a pitcher.

Newark's great strength so far has been in its pitching, for which, without a doubt, wise old Tom Needham is responsible.
Fred Mitchell, who is getting fair results with the disjointed Cubs, has developed a fine all-around player in "Dutch" Reuther.

CHANCE IS PECULIAR

Differs From Other Managers in Handling Players.

Artie Hoffman Relates Instances of Idiosyncrasy of Former Leader of Chicago Cubs—How He Called Pitcher Ritchie.

The conversation in a Chicago faning bee turned to Frank Chance.
"There was a great fellow," said Artie Hoffman, former utility star of the Cubs. "I used to travel around with him, keeping tab on our players, three or four times a week."

"One night Chance was loading in the lobby and insisted on my remaining with him to keep him company. We were all supposed to be in our rooms by eleven o'clock, but we sat and sat and sat. Finally it got to be half past one."

"Why don't you go to bed, Frank?" I said. "If I had as much money as you, I wouldn't worry whether the fellows got in on time or not."

"Chance glanced at the clock. 'Go to bed yourself,' he snapped. 'You're breaking rules.' And me sitting up to keep him company! Can you beat it?"

"And could Chance call a fellow?" continued Hoffman. "Well, rather. I remember we had a three-game series with the Giants one week, and Ritchie went in to pitch for us. He won it."

"Right after the battle Chance told him he'd have to work the third, too. Meaning he'd get only one day of rest in between. Ritchie was willing."

"The night after he won Ritchie stayed out late, and what he didn't get in the clubhouse was a caution. Chance landed into him proper. He told him there wasn't a chance for him."

Frank Chance.
A pitch. Then, five minutes later, he told Ritchie he had decided to send him in.

"Ritchie pitched his head off, and won, three to one. As soon as the gang reached the clubhouse Chance dug into his locker, before he'd even changed his togs, and drew out a fat roll of bills. He stripped two fifties and handed them to Ritchie."

"You're a funny guy," said Chance "but you can certainly pitch."

TO SUCCEED BILL HAMILTON

Pitcher Jim McGinley Named to Manage Worcester Team—Roster of Eastern League Managers.

Pitcher Jim McGinley has been named to succeed Billy Hamilton as slaving manager of the Worcester team of the Eastern league, while Jack Wills will succeed Jack Flynn at Springfield, thus completing the roster of Eastern managers. Bill Abstein will be at Hartford, Gene McCann at New London, Paul Kritcheff at Bridgeport, Danny Murphy at New Haven, Jack Flynn at Lawrence and Mike Garrity at Portland.

Basis of Bay Rum.
The basis of bay rum is Jamaica or Saint Croix rum, made from the skimmings of the sugar boilers the scrappings of sugar barrels and the washings from sugar pots. For the best grade of bay rum the rum must be free from foreign odors and almost colorless.

WITH HAMLET OMITTED

Did you ever, in the days when the world was young, see Booth as he stalked through "Hamlet's" lines? Ever sit enthralled in pit or gallery while the great master spoke his rolling words and acted his immortal role? And then, perchance, did you go to see some would-be renderer of Shakespeare struggle with "Hamlet," even though he might do the best he could? Then you know what it is to see the Pittsburgh club without Hans Wagner in the show.

LAUD DAVE ROBERTSON

Manager McGraw Says Giant Outfielder as Great as Cobb.

Temperamental Southerner is Great Ball Player, but Wants to Have His Own Way—Batted .307 Last Season.

John J. McGraw's declaration that Dave Robertson, Giant outfielder, is as great a ball player as Ty Cobb, if the Giant star cares to be, was almost the cause for breaking out American flags and holding a public mass meeting to send thanks by the citizens of Elizabeth City, N. C., where Dave first attracted attention.

Dave is temperamental. He is a Southerner with the Southerner's contempt for the Northerner's brusqueness. He is a great ball player, and he knows it fairly well. But Dave wants to be great in his own way. If he doesn't feel like stretching his legs in a sprint to first base, why it's nobody's business, so he does as he pleases.

McGraw has been grilling Robertson for a long time, using his own successful way in making a great man of his potential great. This year, according to McGraw, Robertson is going to step out as the only real rival of the famous Georgia peach in all-around ball playing. Dave has added a few promises of his own, and it may be that he will forget temperament and try to make them stick.

Last year Dave busted into the first days of the season with a few well timed crashes that placed him at the head of the batting list with no trouble at all. He played like a fend, a Cobb, and he made such a furor that everyone, McGraw included, said the star had at last begun to shine.

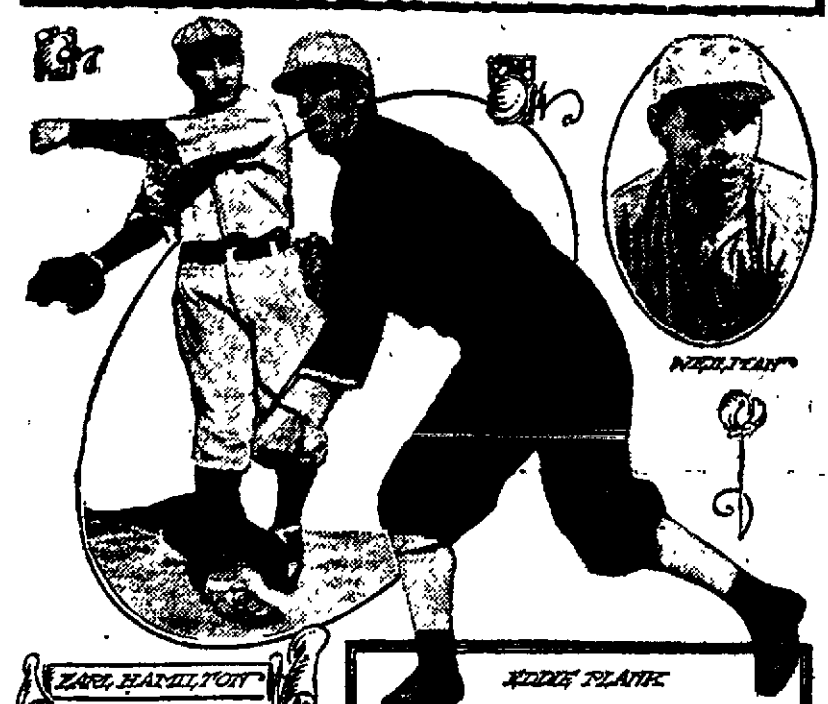

It was premature praise, for Dave struck a slump, forgot his good resolutions, and ended the season with a batting average of .307, barely within the hall of fame.

BLOWING SAND RIGHT SMART

Exhibition Game Between Giants and Tigers Called on Account of Unusual Wind Storm.

Ball games have been called off on account of wetness, but seldom on account of too much dryness. This is what happened to the Giants-Tigers contest scheduled for Oklahoma City exhibition. A high wind took all the moisture out of the diamond and scattered the sand diamond so that it couldn't be played on. The visiting players took a look at the situation and refused to go on. "Why, the whole infield is up in the air," said one of them, as the wind scooped a wagon load of sand out of second base and deposited it in the pitcher's box. Ever Oklahoma City natives admitted it was blowing "right smart" and did not blame the players.

JONES HAS STAR QUARTET OF SOUTHPAWS

BEST LEFT-HANDED PLAYERS IN LEAGUE.

"The best quartet of left-handed pitchers in the league" is the boast of St. Louis fans when discussing the chances of the St. Louis Americans in the 1917 pennant race. Earl Hamilton, who in 1915 was one of the best young pitchers in the league, is expected to repeat. Hamilton, whose shoulder failed him last season, was given a new contract this year with a salary cut, and instead of balking went to Cuba, where he trained faithfully. While working against the St. Louis Nationals in the spring series he shot over a few fast ones which not only baffled his opponents but made Fielder Jones sit up and smile. The quartet of southpaws includes Wellman, Koob, Plank and Hamilton.

Wellman was forced to quit pitching because of an ailing kidney, and though he stuck until the middle of May in hopes that he might overcome his illness, he was finally forced to turn in his uniform and go to his home for an operation.

PULLS UNIQUE STUNT.
The unique feat of being the only one to handle a ball, yet being able to retire the side and end the game, was performed by Pitcher Jim Bagby of the Indians, against Clark Griffith's Senators.

With two out in the ninth, runners on second and third and Morgan up, Bagby replaced Fred Coumbe. Jim only pitched one ball, Eddie poking it right back at the Tribe's pitcher. Bagby picked it up and beat Morgan to the bag, thus being the only man to handle the ball.

GIANTS EASY FOR DEMAREE
Cub Pitcher Has Now Won Fourteen Consecutive Games From Muggsy McGraw's Hirelings.

There is another pitcher in the National league besides Jack Coombs of Brooklyn who finds the New York Giants easy victims. That other twirler is none other than Al Demaree of the Cubs, who the other day defeated the Giants 6 to 1, and in so doing conquered them for the fourteenth time consecutively. That is a better delighted to defeat was the Giants, and while he was a member of the Philadelphia club he took 13 games from them.

Demaree started this season successfully against McGraw's club by beating them with seven hits and winning his fourteenth game. It is Mitchell's hope that he keeps up the good work and if he does he will be a bigger New York Giant killer than Pfeister or Lavender ever dared to be.

TIGERS' NEW FIRST BASEMAN
Hugh Jennings Picks Up Bill Fuerborn, St. Louis Boy, Attending Northwestern University.

Hugh Jennings has picked up a new first baseman in the person of Bill Fuerborn, a St. Louis boy, who is attending Northwestern university. Fuerborn is a big fellow, a hard-hitter and a speed merchant.

KIT BRANSFIELD'S OLD JOB
Hard to Find Player to Replace Former Pirate at First Base—Those Who Have Tried.

In 1915 Kitty Bransfield, now a National league umpire, was first baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Since then twenty men have had chances to fill the position without success. Del Howard, Homer Hildebrand, Bill Clancy, Joe Nealon, Allan Stork, Harry Swacha, Warren Gill, Jimmy Kane, Bill Abstein, Jack Flynn, Ham Hyatt, Bud Sharpe, Fred Hunter, Bill McKechie, Jack Miller, Ed Konechky, Doc Johnston, Hans Wagner, Bill Hinchman, and Warren Adams have all had their crack at the job, and not one has made good. It is doubtful if any club has this record.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS JEERED
Does Not Make Hit When Pulled in Baseball Game—Class D Clubs Offer Many Thrills.

Competition may or may not be the life of trade, but it is certainly the life of baseball. A game between a couple of pugacious, hard-fighting Class D league clubs offers more thrills and real enjoyment than a pink tea affair between big league outfits. The Damon and Pythias business doesn't make a bit with the fans. The fate of the universe may not depend upon the outcome of a ball game, but the bugs like to see the players act as if it did. Baseball without the fighting spirit and the "pep" is only, as the English say, "gloved rounders."

HERE IS TRUE PATRIOTISM

East Orange, N. J.—A contrast to mothers who pleaded with recruiting officers here to have their sons kept from military service was an aged woman who, just before the Fifth regiment started away, begged Lieut. Robert McNally to let her son join.

"Not a single generation of my family since the War of the Revolution has failed to be represented in Uncle Sam's arms," said the woman. The boy failed to meet the federal tests. His mother wept as the disappointed youth looked on.

"There's patriotism," said Lieut. McNally, as they walked away.

When our country calls, friends, sons and sizes should yield their treasures up, nor own a sense beyond the public safety.—Brooks.

The Pacifist and the Soldier

By Charles Hanson Towne of the Vigilantes

A certain pacifist, who was willing to lie supine (so he said) beneath the aggressions of any foreign power, once met a soldier who had never fired a shot. But the pacifist did not know this.

"Ob-ho!" the latter shouted, at sight of the uniform. "So you are one of those soldier men! One of those militarists who create, love and invite war!"

"Not at all," replied the soldier, quietly. "I am opposed to war—every soldier is. Just as every policeman prefers a quiet neighborhood to Hell's Kitchen, so I prefer peace to shot and shell."

"I don't believe you!" cried the pacifist, forgetting, in his rage, that it is the part of every good pacifist to remain calm and courteous under all conditions; never to quarrel; never to shout; never to lose his temper; never to indulge in a war of words. "Why, then, do you carry a gun and a sword? Why, why? You invite trouble by merely owning such weapons. You encourage war simply by thinking about it."

"Oh, no; I beg your pardon," answered the soldier, softly. "I don't think of war, except to detest it. That policeman, yonder, does not wish to arrest you—though perhaps he ought to. Nine times out of ten he will ask you, politely, to move on. Rather than take you to the station house he carries a revolver. It is true. But have

TROOPS HONOR NESTOR OF N. D. STANDING ARMY

Special Dress Parade Given at Fort Last Night in Respect for Tharalson

HAS SPENT 28 YEARS
IN MILITIA SERVICE

Adjutant General T. H. Tharalson, who this evening retires from 28 years' active service with the North Dakota national guard, and Major Richard R. Steadman, U. S. A., retired, military secretary to the governor and training camps' examiner for North Dakota, were guests of honor at a dress parade given at Fort Lincoln last evening by the Second Battalion, under Major Dana Wright. The Bismarck Elks' band was engaged for the occasion, and the troops, on the occasion of the North Dakota national guard yet in federal service, made a splendid showing.

Interest to Steadman, The event was of double interest to Major Steadman, as prior to his retirement he served as battalion commander for many years at Fort Lincoln.

General Tharalson, who served in the Philippines with Co. C of Grifton as second lieutenant, is the oldest man in point of continuous service in the North Dakota guard, with the exception of Col John H. Fraire of Grifton. He was appointed adjutant general 2 1/2 years ago by Governor Hanna and held over six months to take charge of the return of the North Dakota regiment from the Mexican border and work preliminary to the present call.

The general refuses to discuss reports current that he is to be given command of a regiment in the new army. His successor, Major G. A. Fraser, of Fargo, another Philippine veteran who has been associated with the guard for more than a quarter-century, and who was largely responsible for its successful organization after the Spanish war, succeeds as adjutant general Monday.

EFFICIENCY COMMISSION AND STATE COMMISSIONER NOT WORKING TOGETHER

Tender of Desk and Office Room
With Hagan Declined by Federal Agent

The state efficiency commission and the state department of agriculture and labor are not working in harmony in their efforts to solve the farm labor problem of North Dakota. While no actual differences exist, Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor John N. Hagan received no response from R. J. Leth of the United States department of agriculture when the latter was offered desk room and clerical assistance in the offices of the state department. Mr. Leth preferred to establish offices at Jamestown, in order that he might be in close touch with Oscar J. Sells, secretary of the commission, whose president is John H. Worst, of New Rockford, former president of the agricultural college. There is consequently little opportunity for direct co-operation between the two agencies.

'TIS AN ILL WIND THAT BLOWS NO ONE GOOD IS N. D. INVENTOR'S IDEA

Insurance Commissioner Sees
Proof That Blasts May Be Set at Work

Cleveland, N. D., June 30.—That it's an ill wind which blows no one good is being proven again by the Wind Electric Co., which has had one of its plants in operation here for a number of years. The plant generates its juice of a ten-foot windmill. Storage capacity for six days is provided, and in the experience of the local enterprise covering a year no six days have passed without sufficient wind to generate a large farm, a village smithy, creamery and other establishments. Joseph Mankowski of Windmere, barely out of his teens, is the inventor. The enterprise was visited this week by Commissioner of Insurance S. A. Olness, who has concluded to give one of the plants a trial on his big farm at Sneyenne. The commissioner walked into North Dakota not a great many years ago and found employment as a section hand. His farm, his secretaryship of a thriving mutual insurance company and the state commissionership are among the good things North Dakota has brought him.

CONSTITUTIONALITY TEACHER RETIREMENT FUND NOT ATTACKED

Case From Ransom County Argued in Supreme Court Friday Afternoon

The constitutionality of North Dakota's teachers' retirement and pension act was attacked in supreme court yesterday by Treasurer A. E. Hauge, of Ransom county, who appealed from a district court decision upholding the act. Hauge declined to turn over to the trustees of the fund the ten cent per capita assessment levied by law on all children of school age, holding that such act would constitute an illegal diversion of funds.

The trustees of the teachers' fund, John A. Haig and others, brought action against the county treasurer to compel him to make the assessment. They won the decision in the lower court, and the Ransom treasurer appealed. He was represented by States Attorney J. V. Backlund, and the trustees by Assistant Attorney General H. A. Bronson. In the course of the arguments it was stated that more than $100,000 has accumulated in the retirement and pension fund, while pensions due total but $5,000.

Secretary of State Thomas Hall, back from a visit to Grand Forks and other points in the northern part of the state, denies responsibility for the raid in Grand Forks which resulted in the arrest of fifty automobileists who had not registered their cars. The arrests may have been inspired by his presence, states the secretary of state, but he had no part in them.

WASHINGTON ASKS THAT BOARDS REMAIN SAME

Governor Frazier late yesterday received a request from Washington to make no changes in the personnel of the exemption boards at present. His advice was to the effect that changes which prove imperative may be made later, but that the personnel should stand as announced for the present. In North Dakota two changes
